Summary of Contents:	Collection of Canadian periodical clippings including: poetry, anecdotal clippings, advertisements and a broadside posted by the Peninsular Game Club of St. Catharines. Items include: 13 small poems clipped from newspapers. None of the poems list authors. Most of the poems are based on life lessons. Clippings of short stories which appear to have come from a St. Catharines newspaper. The stories include anecdotes, humour and medical advice. There is no author listed on any of the stories. 2 coloured sewing machine advertisements each measuring 9 cm. x 13 cm. and 9 cm. x 14 cm. 1 broadside measuring 27 cm. x 37 cm. and posted by the Peninsular Game Club of St. Catharines. The broadside is a copy of the game laws of 1874 with a warning that breach of these laws will bring rigorous prosecution.
Physical Description / Condition:	All items have glue on the back and look as if they have been mounted in a scrapbook. All items are slightly discoloured. The broadside has slight damage to the edges and some writing on the front of the document.
Other Notes:	This material was received in the Manuscript Division of Library and Archives Canada in the 1970s as an undocumented transfer from what was then the Public Records Division, now Government Records (from Andre Martineau to Bob Taylor). There is no evidence of where they came from, or why they were collected.
